TOP — HERE IS A SCENE THAT IS PASSING FROM THE Old South. The editor picked it up while returning from Washington Friday afternoon where he photographed ground-breaking ceremonies for the Taven.

THE SCENE IS ON FRED GLANTON'S FARM OPPOSITE the airport on Highway 1 North. Mr. Glanton has 109 acres in cotton, and it will make about a bale to the acre. In the picture are Puddin' Muldrow and Ruby Nichols. Ruby, reputed to be a fine cook, was making better money while the cotton lasted. The Editor had to do a bit of talking to get Ruby to pose for the camera — and then he wouldn't have succeeded if he jostling from the other pickers hadn't helped.

Local Man Is New Head of SCS Districts

The annual meeting of the Arkansas Association of Soil Conservation Districts was held last week at Little Rock. Four of the five board members of Hampstead County Soil Conservation District attended. Present were Bill Houston, Emory Thompson, Monroe Samuel, and Shonora Goodlett.

Between parts on the program, drawings were held and prizes given to district supervisors. Sgt. Hickory of Hope, gave one dozen stockman cures, one dozen bags of Hickory Charcoal and one 12 oz. can of Hickory chips. Dr. Ivory gave an assortment of handkerchiefs. These gifts went to various farmers from all over the state.

Before adjournment the election of officers of the State Association was held. Monroe Samuel of Hampstead County Soil Conservation District was elected president. He has served on the Board since 1953.

Water Receding But Many Still Tranded

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Rescue teams continued today evacuating persons stranded by floodwaters in northwest Washington. Thousands of acres of lowlands were under water, but there were indications some rivers were gradually receding.

The Snoqualmie River which had peaked Monday at 13 feet, dropped to 8.27 feet this morning. The Green River was still on the rise, however, and the valley towns of Kent and Auburn, south of here, were still hard hit. Sheriff's officers and constables were kept busy throughout the night answering calls for aid in the Green River Valley.

An Ellensburg, Wash., motorist was missing and it was believed he may have become the second fatality of the area's worst flood in 26 years.

A woman motorist was killed in a mountain pass car-truck accident Sunday night, the night the storm broke.

The State Patrol said the missing man was George Schanke who was to have returned to Ellensburg from Seattle via Snoqualmie pass Sunday night.

A wrecked car, registered to Schanke, was found amid mud and debris. The car was empty.

There was still no immediate relief in sight despite the lowering of some rivers. The damage to rich farmlands and houses was expected to run into millions of dollars.

Hundreds of persons have been rescued by helicopter, powerboats and amphibious craft from both the Green River Valley and the Snoqualmie River Valley to the north.

Many left reluctantly—unwilling to abandon homes and livestock. Some refused to leave.

"Pearl Westerlund, 52, said she didn't intend to leave her home near Kent.

"But then I stood on a chair to get away from the water, and men in a boat spotted me.

"When they asked me if I didn't want to leave, I decided I did. That water was getting pretty deep."

Although only showers hit the valleys Monday, civil defense authorities reported heavy rains in the Stampede Pass area of the Cascades. The U.S. Weather Bureau said it lost communications with its Stampede station late in the day.

In Snoqualmie Pass, where a 300 foot section of the States main east-west route was taken out by a slide, steady rain fell.

The cross state highway travel, blocked by weekend slides on all passes, resumed today at curtailed rates. The state highway department said one-way traffic would be resumed on the Snoqualmie Pass highway Monday, but that rebuilding the four-lanes probably would not be attempted until spring.

Train traffic was rerouted via Portland, Ore. and Vancouver, Wash.

Auxiliary Has Helped 45 Hope Children

Forty-five school children have benefitted from the Hope Junior Auxiliary League (Petitioning) Clothing Project during the past two months.

Working with the principals of the Hope Public Schools, the Children's Clothing Committee members met with each child whose clothing needed supplementing.

Of the 422 articles supplied the children, 159 came from the Thrift Shop stock which had been put aside for this purpose. Profits from the sale of used clothing at the Thrift Shop were used to purchase 263 other garments near the cost of $300.

Girls have been supplied with cotton dresses, skirts, sweaters, jackets, box and under clothing, while the boys have received jeans, knit or flannel shirts, socks, jackets, caps and under clothes.

Requests for children's clothing continues to occur and the demands will be met.

The league hopes to build and maintain a clothing bank for the school children who are in need. The Clothing Committee, Mrs. Albert Graves, Mrs. Dorsey Melroe, Jr. and Mrs. Walter Verhalen will be glad to pick-up any children's clothing suitable for this project now and in the spring.

Members of the League are most grateful to the adult citizens of Hope who are helping these younger citizens with their donations of used clothing. They deeply appreciate the discounts made by the local merchants on new clothing and the free cleaning services of James Cleaners.

A Pre-Trial Hearing for Rights Suits

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorneys for plaintiffs in two damage suits against Police Chief Gene Smith have notified U.S. District Court they will take pre-trial testimony from 10 officials next week.

Smith will be among the officials.

The suits, for $50,000 each, were filed by E. A. Lauderdale Sr., a segregationist leader now on trial in Pulaski Circuit Court on a charge of bombing the Little Rock School Board building, and John S. Soble, a 69-year-old widow.

Both actions allege violation of civil rights. Lauderdale contends he was not treated properly when he was arrested and questioned in the bombing case. Mrs. Soble maintains she was knocked down by a patrolman when officers and firemen broke up a segregationist demonstration near Central High School last Aug. 12.

Amis Guthridge, attorney for the plaintiffs, asked for the depositions. Subpoenas were issued for all of the witnesses except Smith.

The police chief's attorney already has been notified about the depositions.

Smith will appear for a deposition taking Monday. The others, who include Mayor Warren E. Hearnes, City Manager Dean Danley, and various police and fire officials, will appear Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Constellation Plane Hits at Dawn at Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — At least nine persons, three of them plane crew members, were killed today in the crash of a TWA cargo plane, trying an emergency landing at Midway Airport. Seven bodies were at the morgue and two were recovered later from wreckage.

CHICAGO (AP) — A cargo plane, returning to Midway Airport due to a fire warning, plowed into a house in early darkness just before dawn today and sprayed a sleeping neighborhood with fiery death.

Killed were the crew of three aboard the Trans World Airlines Constellation and at least four residents of homes drenched with flaming airplane fuel.

The plane, from New York and Philadelphia, crashed at the corner of the nation's busiest airport, a square network of runways and terminal buildings on Chicago's Southwest Side.

TWA in New York said the plane had landed in Chicago, discharged cargo and taken off again when a fire warning flashed on the instrument panel. The pilot began circling to land again when the crash occurred, TWA said.

In a flash a string of houses and apartment buildings near 6342 St. and Cleve Ave. burst into flame. Firemen said 10 dwellings were set afire, some from the plane fuel, others from flames from those sprayed with gas.

"It seemed like the end of the world," residents of the neighborhood said.

CHICAGO (AP) — A Trans World Airlines Constellation cargo plane, nearing a landing at Midway Airport in the pre-dawn darkness and rain, smashed into houses, caught fire and crashed today.

Police said at least six persons were killed. They said at least a dozen persons were injured, several seriously. Bodies of two persons were found in one of the burned houses.

Police and fire officials said 10 houses were set afire, some from the flaming plane and from flames of houses which were set afire when struck by the four-engine plane.

A TWA spokesman said the plane carried a crew of three. Police said all three perished in the flaming crash.

The plane, which left New York Monday night and made a stop at Philadelphia, crashed into a one-story brick house about three blocks from the airport.

Fire Blazes Through Mill at Searcy

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — A spectacular fire raged through lumber drying kilns at a plant here yesterday, causing damage estimated at more than $200,000.

Flames still flickered early today and weary firemen stood by in case the fire caught again.

No injuries were reported. Troy Smith, owner of the Searcy Lumber and Mill Co., estimated that about 280,000 board feet of lumber was destroyed.

Four of the plant's six lumber kilns burned. The fire threatened the mill building and neighboring structure but about 100 firemen and volunteers managed to save them.

Walls of the kiln building buckled under the intense heat and a fire door burst open, spewing flaming wood into a street.

Cause of the fire was not determined. The smoke and flames were visible over the entire city and a large crowd was at the scene.

of the house, said it struck the roof and the force of the crash caved the roof into a bedroom. Two of his three small children suffered minor cuts and bruises. Fracassi, his wife, Geraldine, 29, and their third child, escaped uninjured.

Fracassi said the plane then crashed into a three-story six-apartment building behind his house. He said flames immediately enveloped the apartment building.

Fire also started in the Fracassi house and Fracassi said he took the two injured children to a hospital while his wife and other child went to a neighbor's home. The plane, which left New York at 9 o'clock Monday night, was en route to Los Angeles via Philadelphia and Chicago.

A TWA spokesman in New York said the crew of three aboard were all based at Los Angeles. They were identified as C. W. Helwig, captain; D. E. Waters, first officer; and A. L. Auge, flight engineer.

CHICAGO (AP)—Here are the names to those killed in today's crash of a TWA cargo plane in a residential neighborhood.

Except for the three crew members, the dead are residents of the area:

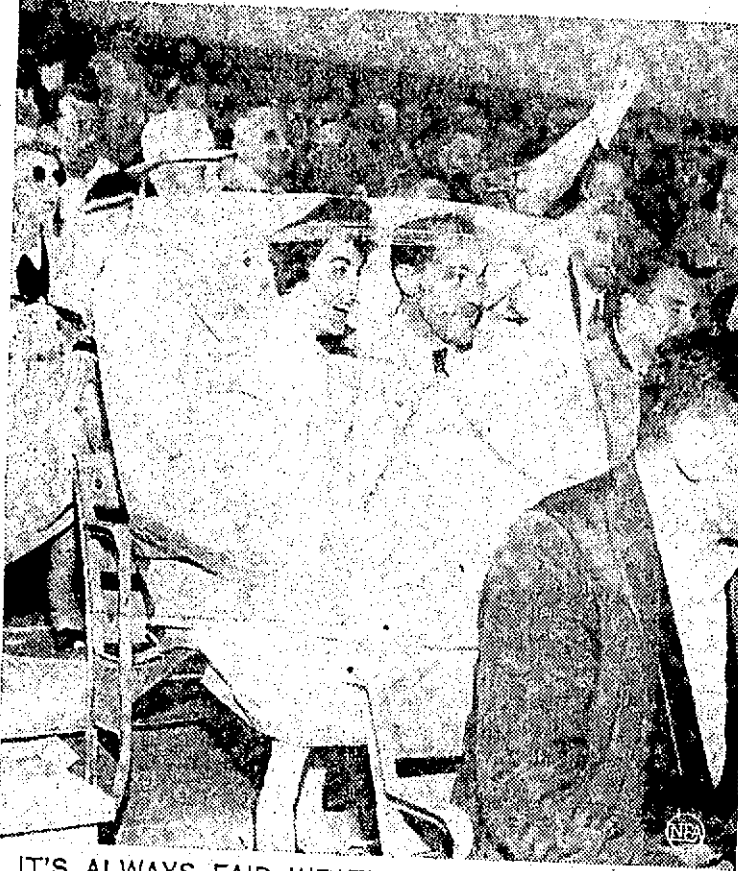

Capt. Claude Hellwig, Los Angeles, the pilot.

Delmas E. Waters, 37, of 2038 Charnwood Ave., Los Angeles, first officer.

Aeron L. Auge Jr., 35, Los Angeles, flight engineer.

AN OLD "PRO" STILL SERVES—If scientists' predictions come true, in a few years 100 per cent accurate weather forecasting will be possible. One of the pioneers in the task of making this a reality is the Boeing 707 prototype, the original of the jetliners now in passenger service. Its usefulness far from over, it has been turned into a jet-propelled weather sensing device. Carrying radar, cameras and its own electronic computer, the craft is busy sniffing, probing and measuring atmospheric data as a forerunner of future flying laboratories.

IT'S ALWAYS FAIR WEATHER—New, tent-for-two provides fair weather and cozy quarters, whether it's raining, snowing or blowing during the football game. Hunters and other outdoor types may find use for the creation, too. Made of an opaque plastic with clear viewing window, it folds into a lightweight carrying case, and is manufactured by a Bound Brook, N.J., firm.

The note was addressed to Lillian Gaudert, 30, his daughter. Montoni lives in Phillipsburg, N.J., across the Delaware River, but had been staying with his daughter since his wife Anna, 50, entered Bettis Hospital two weeks ago with a gall bladder attack.

Monday when he came to visit Mrs. Montoni at the hospital someone heard him tell her, as he entered her room, "Come into the bathroom. I have something important to tell you."

A nurse heard a scream. She saw Montoni run and found Mrs. Montoni on the floor. A small ax lay beside her.

Ten minutes later Montoni's body was found near the warehouse, two blocks away. Authorities went to Mrs. Gaudert's home in suburban Palmer Township. They found the daughter and her children in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor.

The granddaughter, Elaine, died at Easton Hospital. Her mother and brothers, Raymond, 4, and Paul, 21 months, remained unconscious with brain damage. Mrs. Montoni, only slightly better, also was unconscious.

economic aid makes it possible for some countries to buy American farm products which otherwise would add to the surplus problem.

He called it a two pronged program and said, "I doubt we would do all we ought to do if we didn't have a combination of motives. Surplus disposal and the need to assist weaker nations to resist Russia."

He added, "The price of stopping economic aid is that they (recipient nations) would desert us for the Iron Curtain." Keeping prices overseas, he said, is no more foolish than maintaining such installations as Little Rock Air Force Base.

Fulbright said that America's agriculture is ahead of Russia's. He called the failure to develop an effective agriculture a major Russian weakness.

An estimated population of 230 million by 1975 will go a long way to solving the farm surplus problem. Fulbright said, but he also urged some more immediate action. The export program is one part of this, but he also expressed hope that various farm groups could get together on "some program that we in Congress can support."

He said it should not be "a piecemeal program, but a broad single program for all of agriculture."

been on strike 103 days.

Mrs. Gaudert, who was divorced in August had made an appointment Monday with a family service agency. That apparently had something to do with Montoni's reference to taking the children away.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, speaking to the convention's opening session, said the state's financial condition is sound. He added that increasing state revenue should make no tax increases necessary "in the foreseeable future."

Faubus also pointed to highway improvements and other accomplishments of his administration and again criticized some welfare programs, notably those for unemployed mothers. He said some of these seem to reward "idleness, weakness and sin."

Three county agents will be honored today with distinguished service awards.

"All this beauty—and now priced within $50 of Fords, Chevrolets and Plymouths!"

"It's true! Mercury costs a lot less this year!"

Your first look at the new Mercurys on our showroom floor will tell you something fine has happened. We call it a classic design. Briefly, we mean that every detail, from every angle, marks this as a trim, tasteful, quality car. Now take a look at the price sticker on the windshield. The happy fact is Mercury actually is priced beneath every car in its field, priced within $50 of leading "low-price name" cars. Can you afford not to consider Mercury?

*Based on manufacturer's suggested base list price for Mercury Monterey 4-door Sedan and comparable 4-door powered 4-door sedan models of leading "low-price name" cars.

WITH ROAD-TUNED WHEELS FOR SMOOTHEST RIDE
Wheels "give" in four directions, not just two. On every bump, wheels roll with the punch, absorb a beating you take in other cars. We say you can't find a bumpy road in a Mercury.
